Restriction Requirement

The Examiner requires election of either Group I (claims 1 (in part), 2 and 8-13 (in part)) or Group II (claim 1 (in part), 3-7, and 8-13 (in part), and 14-22). The Examiner further requires election of one of the following vectors: poxvirus, adenovirus, retrovirus, herpesvirus, and adeno-associated virus. If a poxvirus is selected, the Examiner requires election of one of vaccinia, NYVAC, MVA, avipox, canarypox, ALVAC, AI.VAC(2), fowlpox or TROVAC. The Examiner also requires election of one type of tumor antigen as listed in claim 11.

Applicants hereby elect with traverse the claims of Group II drawn to methods of treating cancer comprising administering a nucleic acid encoding a tumor antigen and subsequently administering a cytokine. With respect to the species elections, Applicants elect poxvirus as the vector; avipox as the poxvirus species; and, gp100 as the tumor antigen species. Applicants are entitled to consideration of claims to additional species upon the allowance of a generic claim.

Applicants believe a search for art related to the claims of Group I and Group II would overlap and would not cause the Examiner an undue burden, and request that this restriction requirement be withdrawn. As stated above, Applicants reserve the right to
